

Student _____ Faculty _____ Date _____

Station 8 Grading Checklist Post Menopausal Bleeding

	Good Points	Bad Points
What could possibly cause Molly to start having spotting 10 years after her change?	<input type="checkbox"/> Endogenous hormones <input type="checkbox"/> Exogenous hormones <input type="checkbox"/> Endometrial Hyperplasia <input type="checkbox"/> Polyps <input type="checkbox"/> Infection <input type="checkbox"/> Cancer <input type="checkbox"/> Trauma <input type="checkbox"/> Intercourse <input type="checkbox"/> Atrophy <input type="checkbox"/> Medications (eg. ASA)	<input type="checkbox"/> Any incorrect <input type="checkbox"/> Didn't answer this question
Do you think she should go see her doctor?	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> Didn't answer this question
If she goes to the doctor, what's the doctor going to do about this?	<input type="checkbox"/> History <input type="checkbox"/> Physical <input type="checkbox"/> Endometrial biopsy <input type="checkbox"/> Hysteroscopy <input type="checkbox"/> Ultrasound <input type="checkbox"/> Cultures <input type="checkbox"/> Pap <input type="checkbox"/> Other (Plausible) _____	<input type="checkbox"/> Extraneous testing <input type="checkbox"/> Didn't answer this question
Should Molly be worried about this?	<input type="checkbox"/> Somewhat worried, but get it checked out	<input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/> Didn't answer this question
This isn't cancer, is it?	<input type="checkbox"/> Probably not, but can't tell without the tests <input type="checkbox"/> BONUS: gives % chance, accurately	<input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/> Didn't answer this question
Are you coming home to visit over the holidays?	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes or no, either is OK	<input type="checkbox"/> Didn't answer the question
General Communication	<input type="checkbox"/> Used appropriate language	<input type="checkbox"/> Used medical jargon <input type="checkbox"/> Cut and pasted from online resource

Faculty Assigned Overall Grade (1-4) _____

- 1: FAIL – doesn't think this is a problem, completely incorrect work-up, skips multiple questions, plagiarism
- 2: MARGINAL PASS – recognizes a problem, gets cancer and a few other options in the DD, answers all of the questions
- 3: HIGH PASS – Correct and mostly complete DD, correct work-up, comprehensible and mostly jargon-free prose
- 4: HONORS – Complete DD, correct work-up, good tone and jargon-free; you would write this e-mail

Comments (Optional):

Phone Call Message from your Sister

Your sister (a school teacher) called to say that one of her co-workers, Molly, just started having some vaginal spotting.

According to your sister, Molly is 61 years old and went through the change 10 years ago. Your sister thinks Molly should go to the doctor, but Molly wants to wait and see if the spotting will just go away. Molly reports she just started a Zumba class and believes she might have over-Zumba'd during the first week.

Your sister has these questions for you:

1. What could possibly cause Molly to start having spotting 10 years after her change?
2. Do you think she should go see her doctor?
3. If she goes to the doctor, what's the doctor going to do about this?
4. Should Molly be worried about this?
5. This isn't cancer, is it?
6. Are you coming home to visit over the holidays?

Email your sister at sis@obgyned.com and answer these questions for her. As she has no medical background, you should use wording she can easily understand. You may consult any resources you like, but you may not cut and paste from anything.